

Schools with boundary wall give a sense of protection to not only students but also to teachers, it also keeps unnecessary elements away from the school. The statistics in this regard has improved across most of the states, but it has not reached to a 100% mark in any of the states. It is also surprising to see that some of the states, it has gone down.

Source: MOSPI